The CFATG is a French association of scientists dedicated to promoting research in the field of autophagy. It fosters scientific exchange through the organization of annual meetings and by supporting young researchers via travel grants and awards.

We are delighted to welcome you to Paris for the 13th CFATG Scientific Days on Autophagy, to be held next October at FIAP Jean Monnet (14th arrondissement, Paris).

This edition will feature invited keynote lectures by leading international experts in the field:

Ian Ganley (University of Dundee, UK),

Carine Joffre (Centre de Recherche en Cancérologie de Toulouse, France),

Louis Lapierre (Université de Moncton, Canada),

Katja Simon (Max Delbrück Center for Molecular Medicine, Germany),

Sharon Tooze (The Francis Crick Institute, UK)

and Roberto Zoncu (UC Berkeley, USA).

Don't miss this event!

Join us for an inspiring scientific experience where you can:

- Discover the latest breakthroughs in autophagy, from fundamental mechanisms to emerging roles in human health and disease.
- Engage in interactive scientific sessions featuring leading experts, cutting-edge research, and lively discussions.
- Expand your professional network by connecting with national and international researchers, as well as early-career scientists, in a dynamic and friendly setting.

See you soon in Paris!
